Calling All Garage Sale Hunters!
Come to the Brimfield Flea Market
Largest Flea Market in the country!!
 And
Train Depot Lunch

May 15, 2019
 Wednesday

The Brimfield Flea Market runs about ¼ of a mile on each side of the street for easy strolling to visit each of the hundreds of tents lining Route 20 in Brimfield, MA.

Thousands of people enjoy exploring the tents and shops for rare and hidden treasures of all kinds. Dealers and collectors from around the world are drawn to this tiny Central Massachusetts town every year, for one of the largest selections of antiques, collectibles and memorabilia in the country. You'll find bargains galore!!

We'll take a break from the morning's activities for a relaxing lunch in an historic train depot. The 19th century Romanesque style building, designed by renowned architect H.H. Richardson, is wedged between two rail lines, with trains coming and going all day long. Behind the building is a diamond crossing, a unique configuration of rail lines that allows trains coming in to travel North, South, East, and West. Inside, the thirty-foot ceilings and high brick arches make the space feel open, but our friendly atmosphere and collection of train and railroad memorabilia keep the dining hall feeling cozy and warm.

After our relaxing lunch we return to the market for a last chance to stop by any tent you missed. There is plenty of room in luggage bays on the bus to bring home all your bargains of the day!
